

AGENTS OF THE WILD

OPERATION HONEYHUNT

JENNIFER BELL & ALICE LICKENS

Dear Reader,

It's Commander Phil here, with very important news.

We at SPEARS are committed to protecting plants and wildlife under threat across the world. As you may be aware, Agents Attenborough and Gamble have recently returned from a successful operation in the Atlantic Forest, and now we need your help to continue their good work.

Do you have what it takes?

We are looking to recruit agents to carry out undercover tasks. As SPEARS agents, you will be required to act responsibly and show determination, quick-thinking and initiative in everyday situations.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

Make an eye-catching poster!

Educating people is a great way to grow their understanding of the problem of deforestation and the ways in which they can help. Your poster can include drawings and facts to illustrate what's happening in the Atlantic Forest. Talk to your friends and teachers about deforestation and its effects on animals and plants. You could even do a class project on the issue to raise awareness in your school.

AGENTS OF THE WILD

OPERATION HONEYHUNT

JENNIFER BELL & ALICE LICKENS

Welcome bees into your garden!

Bees need looking after at home, as well as in the rainforest. Placing shallow dishes of water around your garden can help to keep bees hydrated after they've been flying around. Bees' favourite colours are blue, purple and yellow - so make sure you have lots of colourful plants and flowers in your garden to keep them happy.

Go bananas!

When you or your parents buy bananas, coffee, cocoa or tea, check that the products you choose have been certified as sustainable. This means that they are grown in a way which doesn't have a negative impact on the rainforest.

Raise money!

SPEARS isn't on its own in wanting to save the rainforest. There are some excellent organisations out there who already do good work. By doing a bake sale or hosting a school fundraiser you can donate to WWF (World Wide Fund for Nature), The Rainforest Alliance, The World Land Trust and The Nature Conservancy, among others.

Check your paper!

Paper, tissues and furniture are all made from trees. Check that any products you or your parents buy are "FSC" certified. This means they've got the stamp of approval from the Forest Stewardship Council, whose job it is to take care of forests and the people and wildlife that call them home.

Good luck, SPEARS is relying on you!

Sincerely,

Commander Phil
